Forward

This document replaces the one entitled "British Columbia Certified Organic Operation Policies and Farm Management Standards, Version 15 Book 1 Operation Policies and Procedures".

The "British Columbia Certified Organic Program" contains two books. Book 1 (this document) is titled "Operation Policies and Procedures" and details the structure of the British Columbia Certified Organic Program. The annexes of Book 1 describe the different requirements for the Regional and COR compliant certification programs.

The standards used by the British Columbia Certified Organic Program are those published by the Canadian General Standards Board (CGSB) with the title "Organic Production Systems –General Principles and Management Standard". Book 2 describes the management standards required for certification of organic enterprises under the British Columbia Certified Organic Program and provides details of any standard which is not covered by the scope of the CGSB organic production standard.

About the COABC

The Certified Organic Associations of British Columbia is the Administrator of the Organic Certification Regulation under the Food and Agricultural Products Classification Act. The COABC works to maintain a credible set of organic production and processing standards. The COABC ensures compliance with the standards by administering the accreditation and auditing process (the British Columbia Certified Organic Program) in partnership with the British Columbia Ministry of Agriculture.

The COABC acts as a Conformity Verification Body for the Canadian Food Inspection Agency with respect to the Canadian Organic Regime (COR). Detailed information regarding the COR can be obtained from the CFIA website.

The COABC is committed to representing the British Columbia organic sector in provincial, national and international forums. In order to do this, the COABC endeavours to collect information and communicate issues that affect the provincial organic sector. The British Columbia Ministry of Agriculture provides critical support to the COABC in formulation of positions to deal constructively with these issues.

Consumer recognition and support of the organic sector and the British Columbia Certified Organic Program is vital to the development of the organic sector. The COABC actively seeks out opportunities to educate consumers about what it means to be "British Columbia Certified Organic." The COABC has developed a program and promotional materials that encourage use of the Program Symbol by licensees and provides program information to consumers.

1. Introduction

1.1. British Columbia Certified Organic Program

- 1) This is the system of accreditation and certification administered by the COABC using the Organic Certification Regulation under the Food and Agricultural Products Classification Act. This program is documented in a two-part manual titled "British Columbia Certified Organic Program". This document is Book 1 "Operation Policies and Procedures". Book 2 is the "Certified Organic Management Standards."

1.1.1. Competent Body for Accreditation

- 1) The Certified Organic Associations of British Columbia (COABC) is empowered by the Organic Certification Regulation under the Food and Agricultural Products Classification Act to carry out the function of accrediting certification bodies operating in BC.

1.1.2. ISO 17011 Compliant

- 1) The Certified Organic Associations of British Columbia Accreditation Program provides voluntary conformity assessment and accreditation service under International Standards Organization (ISO) Guide 17011 to organic certification bodies to facilitate the marketing and distribution of certified organic agricultural products. The COABC is an independent third party and strives to provide services in accordance with accepted industry practices and internationally recognised guidelines. All services are provided on a cost-recovery basis with fees as nearly equal as possible to the actual cost of providing the service.

1.1.3. Accreditation Programs

- 1) The COABC operates two accreditation programs:
 1. BC Certified Organic Regional Program for product marketed only in BC
 2. BC Certified Organic COR Compliant Program 3.3.2.2
- 2) The policies and procedures for each program are outlined in Annex 1 and Annex 2 of this document and apply when providing accreditation service to organic product certification bodies requesting conformity assessment.

1.1.3 Conditions of the BC Certified Organic Program

- 1) The responsibility to certify individual enterprises remains the domain of the certification bodies that are accredited under the BC Certified Organic Program.
- 2) The COABC grants to the British Columbia Ministry of Agriculture the right to audit the process of accreditation carried out by COABC.
- 3) The COABC is incorporated as a society in the province of British Columbia.
- 4) The COABC requires as a condition of membership in the program that its members and any enterprises enrolled in the British Columbia Certified Organic Program adhere to all provincial, federal, and municipal laws, regulations, and standards affecting the agriculture industry.
- 5) The COABC does not require that any of the policies or standards of this program be applied to any other program that a member or licensee participates in.

1.2. Prescribed Phrase and symbol

1.2.1. Symbol Use

- 1) The phrase prescribed under the Food and Agricultural Products Classification Act (the Act) and adopted by the COABC is "British Columbia Certified Organic". No other descriptive phrases, including already existing labels or trademarks, and the descriptive phrase "transitional" are covered, prescribed, or adopted by this program.
- 2) The Program symbol prescribed under the Act and adopted by the COABC is the composite mark consisting of the phrase "British Columbia Certified Organic" and the symbol (the 'checkmark' logo portrayed on the cover of this document) as presented in the British Columbia Certified Organic Program Symbol User's Guide Revision 2.
- 3) Specific rules governing use of the Program Symbol are described in Section 3.11 of this document.

1.3. Purposes of COABC

In addition to administering the British Columbia Certified Organic Program (the core function of COABC), the purposes of the COABC as stated in the constitution are:

- 1) to promote organic agriculture and to provide public education on organic agriculture and organic foods;
- 2) to represent members in matters relating to the Food and Agricultural Products Classification Act of British Columbia;
- 3) to develop and administer an organic certification accreditation program for members;
- 4) to grant permission for use of the phrase "British Columbia Certified Organic" on product labels by agri-food enterprises certified by members;
- 5) to develop and implement a verification officer training program;
- 6) to facilitate research and marketing activities on behalf of members;
- 7) to provide information to the public on behalf of the members;
- 8) to develop and maintain an approved list of materials for use in the production of organic agricultural products by agri-food enterprises certified by members; and
- 9) To be responsible for incidental matters related to the above-referenced activities.

By entering in to an agreement with the Canadian Food Inspection Agency, COABC has the additional purpose to provide access to the Canadian Organic Regime.

- 1) The COABC is incorporated as a society in the Province of British Columbia. The members of the COABC are charged to continue to do all things necessary to maintain COABC as a society.

3.1.2. Administrator

- 1) The COABC is the administrator of the program established by the Organic Certification Regulation (the regulation) under the Food and Agricultural Products Classification Act; called the British Columbia Certified Organic Program.

3.1.3. Liaison with the BC Ministry of Agriculture

- 1) The COABC acts as a liaison between its members and the BC Ministry of Agriculture is charged under the Constitution Act of the Province of British Columbia with administering the Food and Agricultural Products Classification Act.

3.1.4. Authority for Providing Accreditation Service

- 1) British Columbia Certified Organic accreditation services are provided under the authority of the Organic Agricultural Products Certification Regulation under the Food and Agricultural Products Classification Act of British Columbia.
- 2) The assessment and monitoring of certification bodies for compliance with the Canadian Organic Regime is carried out under agreement with the Canadian Food Inspection Agency under subsection 14(1) of the Canadian Food Inspection Act.

3.1.5. No Restrictions to Program

- 1) All British Columbia Certified Organic accreditation services are provided without bias toward race, colour religion, age, gender, national origin, sexual orientation, and marital or familial status. Services are available without regard to membership in any organisation and are not contingent upon the number of certificates issued.
- 2) British Columbia Certified Organic accreditation is available to all applicants whose activities fall within the scope of the COABC's mandate.

3.1.6. Organic Management Standards

- 1) The COABC will use the CGSB Organic Production Systems – General Principles and Management Standard the most current versions of CAN/CGSB-32.310 & 312 as the reference document for the organic management standards of the British Columbia Certified Organic Program.

3.1.7 Substances List

- 1) The COABC will use the CGSB Organic Production Systems- Permitted Substances Lists the most current versions of CAN/CGSB-32.311 & 312as the reference document for substances lists in the British Columbia Certified Organic Program.

3.1.8. VO Training Program

- 1) COABC will be responsible to ensure that an adequate, suitable, and dependable training, certification, maintenance, and upgrading program for VOs is available. The COABC may choose to use the training services provided by the IOIA.

3.2. Amendments to Program

3.2.1. Amending Procedure for Policies and Procedures

- 1) COABC members wishing to propose changes to the BC Certified Organic Program, this document or the constitution and bylaws of COABC must submit proposals in writing to the COABC.
- 2) Proposals will be distributed to COABC members for review at least four weeks in advance of a general meeting.
- 3) Decisions to amend policies and procedures will be made by a majority (75%) vote at a general meeting. A quorum is defined as 75% of members in good standing at the time of the general meeting.
- 4) Furthermore, amendments to the scope of accreditation must follow the above procedure and include approval by the British Columbia Minister of Agriculture.

3.2.2. Amending Procedure for Management Standards

- 1) If the COABC identifies a need to develop organic production standards outside of the scope of the federal regulation, the COABC Board of Directors shall appoint a Standards Review Committee from among their number, COABC licensees, or members of the public. The Standards Review Committee shall consist of at least five members; however, the Board of Directors may appoint more members if they see fit.
- 2) The Standards Review Committee will be responsible for making recommendations to the COABC Board of Directors on amendments and additions to the management standards of the BC Certified Organic Management Standard.
- 3) Detailed procedures covering the workings of this committee are developed by the COABC Board of Directors and amended from time to time.

3.2.3. Criteria for Organic Management Standards Revisions

- 1) Additions and amendments to the COABC Organic Management Standards shall comply with provisions of the current versions of Canada Organic Standard (CAN/CGSB-32.310 & 312 Organic Production Systems – General Principles and Management Standards and CAN/CGSB-32.311 & 312 Organic Production Systems – Permitted Substances Lists).
- 2) Procedures for developing and proposing recommendations to the CGSB for revisions to the Canadian standard may be developed by the COABC Board of Directors.

3.3. Accreditation of Member Certification Programs

3.3.1. COABC Accreditation Board

- 1) In order for the COABC to provide advocacy services for the British Columbia organic sector, and to provide competent accreditation services to the same class of persons, the COABC has devolved its accreditation functions to an "arms-length" body called the COABC Accreditation Board.

3.3.2. Accreditation for BC organic certification bodies is provided in two categories:

- 1) Regional Accreditation to BC Certified Organic – this process provides accreditation under the Food and Agricultural Products Classification Act for certification bodies operating in the province of British Columbia with licensees who only market organic product within BC.
- 2) Accreditation to BC Certified Organic COR Compliant – this process also allows the COABC to recommend to the CFIA accreditation under the Canada Organic Regime for certification bodies with licensees who require use of the Canada Organic logo, and access to national and international markets.

3.3.3. Scope of Accreditation

- 1) The COABC Accreditation Board provides accreditation for organic certification bodies on behalf of the Certified Organic Associations of British Columbia. The COABC Accreditation Board may provide no other accreditation services.
- 2) BC Certified Organic Regional accreditation and BC Certified Organic COR accreditation services are available to British Columbia organic certification bodies operating in British Columbia that certify organic agricultural products or systems that produce, process, or distribute agricultural products.

3.3.4. Accreditation Review

- 1) The BC Ministry of Agriculture or any COABC accredited certification body may request an extraordinary review of the COABC accreditation process at any time.

3.4. Appeals

3.4.1 Appeal by Members

- 1) Certification Bodies (members of the COABC) have the right to appeal decisions of the COABC Accreditation Board. The appeal procedure is a two-step process. CB's must pursue the step 1 process before initiating the step 2 process.

3.4.2 Appeals Procedure Step 1

- 1) The first avenue for appeal of a decision of the COABC Accreditation Board by a Certification Body shall be to appeal directly to the COABC Accreditation Board. The Certification Body shall:
 - a) File the notice of appeal within thirty days of receiving the decision from the COABC Accreditation Board.
 - b) In order for an appeal to be admissible, the certification body must give evidence to a justifiable procedural error, misinterpretation, or inconsistency relative to the Board's previous decisions.
 - c) The COABC Accreditation Board shall study the appeal according to the reasoning submitted by the applicant. The COABC Accreditation Board then makes a decision and informs the appellant in writing.

3.4.3 Appeals Procedure Step 2

- 1) In the event that the certification body still does not agree with the COABC Accreditation Board, they may pursue an appeal to the COABC Board of Directors. Certification bodies shall proceed as follows:
 - a) It shall request in writing, an emergency meeting of the COABC board at which the appeal will be heard.

- b) A deposit of $250.00 shall accompany this request.
- c) The deposit is returned only if the COABC board finds the COABC Accreditation Board has not provided a fair process for the assessment of the certification body in question.
- d) The director representing the certification body is not eligible to vote on its appeal.
- e) The COABC Board is restricted in its decisions on appeals of the COABC Accreditation Board to determining only whether a fair process was in place with regards the accreditation decision of the certification body in question.
- f) If the COABC Board finds that fair process was in place during the accreditation review in question, then the affected certification body has no further right of appeal.
- g) If the COABC Board finds that a fair process did not take place during the accreditation review of the certification body in question, the COABC Board may:
 - i. Direct the COABC Accreditation Board to repeat the accreditation process of the certification body in question.
 - ii. In extraordinary circumstances, the COABC Board may remove and replace appointments to the COABC Accreditation Board. This may only take place by action on an appeal to the COABC Board by a certification body, or because of verified evidence that an Accreditation Board member has not acted according to Accreditation Board policy.

3.4.1. Records of Appeals

- 1) The COABC will keep records of all appeals for inspection and audit by the BC Ministry of Agriculture.

3.5. Complaints and Disputes

3.5.1. Dispute Resolution Committee

- 1) The COABC Board will appoint a Chair for the Dispute Resolution Committee from among its number or from the membership or from the public. The Dispute Resolution Committee shall have the responsibility to provide recommendations to the COABC Board regarding all complaints and disputes. The Dispute Resolution Committee shall also provide recommendations on complaints from the public.
- 2) The Dispute Resolution Committee shall convene only when there is a need for its services. The Chair of the committee shall appoint two COABC board members or members of the public to serve on the Dispute Resolution Committee. COABC board members so appointed shall be obligated to serve on the committee.
- 3) The COABC Administrator shall ensure a record is kept of all complaints and disputes.

3.5.2. Dispute Resolution

- 1) Dispute resolution is a friendly alternative to the formal appeal course. The dispute resolution process is designed to provide any member of the COABC the opportunity to have a decision of the COABC reconsidered when the member believes the decision was not made in accordance with the applicable principles, standards, and/or procedures. The dispute resolution process encourages detailed discussions of the case and endeavours to reach a decision at the conclusion of the process that is both equitable and clearly defensible.
- 2) The Dispute Resolution Committee shall provide a hearing on any matter of dispute between the COABC and its membership. Certification bodies (COABC members) must handle disputes from individual licensees. The Dispute Resolution Committee shall provide recommendations regarding disputes to the COABC Board of Directors. The COABC Board must acknowledge recommendations from the Dispute Resolution Committee. If the COABC Board chooses not to implement such recommendations, they must provide written reasons for their decision.

3.5.3. Public Complaints

- 1) Complaints from the public shall be handled immediately. In all cases, the complainant shall be given a written report of the actions of the Dispute Resolution Committee. The Chair will have the responsibility to ensure this report is given to the complainant.
- 2) Complaints from the public regarding licensees shall be directed to the appropriate Certification Body. The COABC shall ensure that the CB provides an immediate and sensitive resolution of all public complaints.
- 3) The COABC office shall oversee complaints regarding use of the Program Symbol. If the misuse is by a certified operator the complaint is dealt with initially by the appropriate certification body. Swift and appropriate action shall be taken to protect the integrity of the Program Symbol. The COABC Board is notified when there is no resolution by the required date. If necessary, the COABC may involve the BC Ministry of Agriculture, the Canadian Food Inspection Agency or the Competition Bureau of Canada.

3.6. Market Development

- 1) COABC may undertake market development activities on behalf of its membership.

3.7. Research and Extension

- 1) COABC may undertake research and extension activities on behalf of its membership independently, in co-operation with the BC Ministry of Agriculture, or with other appropriate agencies.

3.8. Public Information

3.8.1. Member Database

- 1) The COABC will maintain at its head office a register providing the name and address of every certification body for which accreditation has been granted and the name of every enterprise to which a certificate has been issued (licensees). COABC will make this information available to the public via the COABC website and by:
 - a) making the register available for public inspection during normal business hours, and
 - b) answering inquiries from the public respecting the register.
- 2) The COABC will provide copies of its Operation Policies and Procedures, and Management Standards to the public for a reasonable fee.

3.9. Confidentiality and Conflict of Interest

3.9.1. Confidentiality Agreement

- 1) The COABC shall develop and maintain a confidentiality and conflict of interest agreement. Such an agreement will be adequate for the protection of confidentiality and for the disclosure of conflict of interest.

- 2) All personnel: contract workers, employees or volunteers, will be required to sign a confidentiality agreement.
- 3) All directors and alternates will be required to sign a confidentiality agreement.

3.9.2. Conflict of Interest

- 1) Directors, contractors, employees, committee members, and other volunteers shall be required to disclose any direct or indirect conflict of interest in their relationship with the COABC.
- 2) All persons with a conflict of interest shall be excluded from work, discussion, or decisions regarding the potential conflict. The exclusion of such persons shall be recorded in minutes or other records.
- 3) The confidentiality agreement shall contain a disclosure of interest clause.

3.10. Annual Report

- 1) The COABC will report annually to the Minister of Agriculture providing information that the minister requires, including a report on the COABC's activities of the past year, a list of current officers, directors, committees and committee members and a financial report.

3.11. Use of the COABC Name and Program Symbol

- 1) The descriptive phrase "British Columbia Certified Organic" and the program symbol may only be used by enterprises certified by member certification bodies.

3.11.1. Rules Governing Use of the Program Symbol

- 1) A Certification Body, which has been accredited by the COABC, may grant the use of the BC Certified Organic Program Symbol to certified organic enterprises enrolled in its certification program, subject to the following conditions:
 - a) The enterprise must have a valid 'certificate' issued by the Certification Body. This must be re-issued annually.
 - b) The enterprise must sign and return a "Consent to Use Official Marks" form to their CB. This need only be completed initially.
 - c) The enterprise must be in good standing with the CB and COABC fees paid.
 - d) Physical use of the BC Certified Organic Program Symbol is governed by the "Symbol Users Guide", issued by the COABC, and amended from time to time.
- 2) When a Certification Body uses or permits any of its members to use Official Marks in connection with a Membership Promotion:
 - a) the Certification Body will ensure that all Use of the Official Marks in connection with the Membership Promotion is conducted in a manner that communicates clearly a connection between the Official Marks Used and the Certification Body, which may include but not be limited to prominent use of one or more of the Certifying Body's own certification marks in close proximity to the Official Marks.

4. COABC Membership and Application Requirements

4.1. Membership Criteria

4.1.1. Classes of Membership

- 1) Certification Body members - organic certification bodies that are accredited members in good standing in the BC Certified Organic Program. These are voting members.
- 2) Certification Body supplementary members - Certification Body members may appoint one Supplementary member for every 50 (beyond the first 50) operators enrolled in their organic certification program as of the date of the COABC annual general meeting. These are voting members.
- 3) Consumer/environmental organisation member - the board of directors may appoint one consumer/environmental organisation member. This is a voting member.
- 4) Associate members - The directors may appoint Associate members as they see fit, although Associate members must be organisations and, according to the Societies Act, there may not be more Associate members than non-Associate members. The BC Ministry of Agriculture is a permanent Associate member. Associate members do not vote.

4.1.2. Certification Bodies

- 1) Membership in the COABC is open to a certification body, which meets the membership criteria of the COABC, as set out below.
- 2) Certification Bodies shall have as one of their functions, an organic certification process for their licensees that meets the minimum requirements of the BC Certified Organic Program.
- 3) Certification Bodies must have a minimum of five enterprises enrolled in their certification program to apply for membership in the COABC.
- 4) Certification Bodies shall not have a direct financial interest in the affairs of any of its members.
- 5) A certification body whose members wish to use the phrase "British Columbia Certified Organic" and/or the program symbol shall conform to these policies and management standards. A certification body shall require its members enrolled in the BC Certified Organic Program to conform to these policies and management standards.

4.1.3. Consumer/Environmental Member

- 1) A representative from a consumer or environmental organisation shall not have a financial interest in the organic food industry. This member must have as a principal purpose the advocacy of consumer or environmental issues.

4.1.4. Associate Members

- 1) Associate membership in COABC is open to any group, which meets the associate membership criteria of the COABC.

- 2) The Minister's designate from the BC Ministry of Agriculture is an associate member in the COABC. The BC Ministry of Agriculture representative sits in an advisory capacity only, does not vote, and is not liable for membership fees.
- 3) The Minister's designate is entitled to nominate an alternate to act on his/her behalf at general meetings of the COABC. The Minister's designate is a non-voting member of the board of directors.
- 4) Associate members are not liable for membership fees.

4.1.5. Representatives and Directors

- 1) Representatives attend general, extraordinary, and annual general meetings, and directors attend directors meetings.
- 2) Each member shall designate one representative (may be called delegate) and one alternate representative to attend general meetings of the society. The alternate may act in the absence of the designate, and otherwise may attend meetings in an observatory capacity only. Except for Associate members, the representative of a member is entitled to vote at a general, special or annual meeting of the COABC.
- 3) Each Certifying Body member appoints a director at the annual general meeting. Terms are for two years and persons may only serve two consecutive terms. After one-year's absence, a person may be re-appointed.
- 4) Each Certifying Body Supplementary member appoints a director at the annual general meeting (members may appoint the same person as both representative and director). Terms are for one year and a person may only serve four consecutive terms. After one-year's absence, a person may be re-appointed.
- 5) The consumer/environmental organisation member appoints a director at the annual general meeting. The term is for two years and a person may only serve two consecutive terms. After one-year's absence, a person may be re-appointed.
- 6) Associate members may appoint ex-officio directors if authorised by the directors to do so. The Ministry of Agriculture (the Ministry) is a permanent associate member of the society with the right to name a representative to attend meetings of members. The Ministry also has the right to name a person to sit as an ex-officio director.
- 7) Representatives of associate members are entitled to fully participate and advise.
- 8) The board of directors may nominate individuals to sit as non-voting directors.

4.1.6. Committees

- 1) The board may establish an executive committee or any other committee it may determine as necessary following the constitution and bylaws.
- 2) A committee formed by the directors shall conform to any rules imposed on it by the directors and shall report every act or thing done in exercise of those powers to the earliest meeting of the directors to be held next after it has been done.

- 3) If a member of a committee is an ex-officio director of the society or a designate from a member or associate member, or an individual designated by the directors, that committee member can vote and speak at committee meetings in the same way as any other committee member.

4.1.7. Voting Rules

- 1) Except for Associate Members, each member of the COABC has one vote.
- 2) All decisions by the COABC Board of Directors and general membership will be determined by a majority vote. A majority is described for this purpose as seventy-five percent (75%) of members in good standing. A quorum for any decision-making process shall be 75% of members in good standing. The directors may from time to time fix the quorum necessary to transact business, and unless so fixed the quorum shall be a 75% majority of the directors then in office.
- 3) Organic operators (licensees) may belong to (and be certified by) more than one COABC accredited certification body but may only participate in one CB's election of a COABC representative for the COABC board of directors.

4.2. Fees and Levies

4.2.1. Administration Fees

- 1) A fee for administration purposes will be charged to each licensee on an annual basis.
- 2) The Board of Directors of the COABC shall determine the licensing fees at the annual general meeting.
- 3) The membership fees will be determined for the next calendar year and will take effect on January 1st of the next calendar year.
- 4) Certification bodies will remit membership fees according to the fee schedule provided by the COABC.
- 5) Each certification body may participate in other activities of the COABC. Participating certification bodies shall be billed on a cost benefit basis.

4.3. Offence and Penalty

- 1) Compliance with the program is a preferred outcome to prosecution. Withdrawal of certification by a Certification Body for non-compliance is the penalty of choice but prosecutions under Section 6 of the Food and Agricultural Products Classification Act may be initiated by a request from COABC to the BC Ministry of Agriculture where necessary.

5. COABC Accreditation Board

5.1. Purpose of the COABC Accreditation Board

- 1) The purpose of the Accreditation Board is to fulfil the obligations for accreditation devolved to the COABC as administrator of the British Columbia Organic Certification Regulation under the Food and Agricultural Products Classification Act.
